

As Many As 1,500 Persons A Day Cool Off, Play Or Learn Swimming At Arlington's Busy Reservoir Beach

Shoeshine Boy, Given Store Job 21 Years Ago, Still Holds It

BY John Foran

Twenty-one years ago a shoeshine boy was literally pulled off Medford St., had his face scrubbed, and was placed behind a drug store counter as a clerk—and he has remained there ever since.

The boy of more than two decades ago was Dominick (Dodo) Miranda, who recently observed his 21st anniversary as a clerk at Pierson's Drug Store.

Times have changed a lot since "Dodo" accepted his promotion at the hands of the late Frank I. Pierson. Mr. Pierson himself is gone, the store at Medford St. and Mass. Ave. passed into new hands—but Dominick has stuck to the job and generations of Arlingtonians have come to expect to see him behind his counter.

Two other local boys were behind the counter in those early days. "Buster" Reardon, who now is the Rev. Fr. Reardon a Jesuit Mission.

Pointing an automatic revolver at a girl clerk at Bayburn Cleaner's 834 Mass. Ave., Friday afternoon, a holdup man wearing dark glasses and leather gloves forced her to hand him $80 from the cash register, and then abandoned a stolen car a few blocks away and escaped.

The holdup was the first in Arlington in about a year.

"This is a holdup! Give me the money in the cash register—and don't holler, or I'll shoot you!", the holdup man told Mrs. Dora Lafeyre of 16 Rhinecliff St., who went to work at Bayburn's only four weeks ago.

The man carried a tweed coat over one arm, and this shielded his gun from sight as he entered the cleaning store. He took the gun out as he forced the clerk, waving it at her threateningly.

Mrs. Lafeyre, who admits she was very frightened, did not hesitate: she went immediately to the cash register and began scooping out the money.

"Hurry up... I'm nervous and I'm apt to shoot," the armed man warned her.

He grabbed the bills and coins and ran out to a parked car across the street. Mrs. Lafeyre remembered later that she had seen this machine parked there for some time before the man entered, and he apparently had watched the place and waited until the store was free of customers.

He entered at 5:15—just three quarters of an hour before the store closed, at 6. No customer came in while he was there.

Her voice shaking, Mrs. Lafeyre phoned the police first news of the robbery at 5:17. At 5:30 police who were scouring the town

Kind-Hearted Business Man Puts Nickels In Parking Meters 'So Folks Won't Have To Pay Fines'

An enterprising East Arlington real estate firm is building good will by dropping frequent nickels in the parking meters throughout East Arlington.

The unusual gesture—call it an advertising stunt, if you will—came to light Tuesday when John Babineau of 24 Everett St. phoned the Press.

"I'd parked my car in East Arlington while I did some shopping," he said, "and I returned to find a cop checking the meters and passing out tickets."

"I was worried, for I thought perhaps I'd overstayed my hour limit, I was surprised to find I still had almost a full hour to go. Somebody had put a nickel in for me."

"On the windshield of my car I found a little printed note reading: 'Time will fly and wheels will spin; but don't you worry, we put a nickel in.' And it was signed, 'Courtesy, Roberts Realty.'"

Mr. Babineau was very appreciative of that nickel donation, for he figures it may have saved him a $2 fine—not to mention a trip to the court house in Cambridge.

The Press subsequently contacted Stanley Penkala of the Roberts Realty, 183 Mass. Ave., and Mr. Penkala was surprised and pleased that his little gesture had reached the ears of a newspaper editor.

"I decided on this," he said, "because I figured it would save a lot of folks a $2 fine. I've had experience with parking meters myself in Boston, and I know how easy it is to overstay the 1-hour limit."

He said he frequently sends a man out with "a load of nickels," with instructions to drop nickels in meters where the limit has almost expired.

"Two women came in," he reported, "and were so grateful that they wanted to pay us the $2—they said they would have had to pay as a fine if it hadn't been for the nickel we put in their meter. Of course, we wouldn't accept it."

Taxi Man Finds $227 Cash In Lost Wallet; Hesitates At Reward

An Arlington taxi driver became a nominee for "most honest cab driver" Tuesday morning, when he found a man's wallet containing $227 cash, returned it to its owner and very reluctantly accepted a $5 reward.

The taxi driver was Frank Head of 110 Webster St., a former railroad man and a driver for the Arlington Center Cab Co., and he picked up the wallet near the company's cab stand on Mass. Ave., at the railroad tracks.

Mr. Head took the wallet and money to police headquarters where examination disclosed the name of the owner: Frank Pinette of 24 Bower St., West Medford.

James H. Young this week submitted his resignation as warden in charge of voting in Precinct 1. The vacancy will be filled in the fall.

Mr. Pinette, a B. & M. railroad engineer, had been on his way to work in Bedford and stopped in the center to wipe his auto windshield. It was then, presumably, that the wallet slipped out of his pocket. He did not miss it till he reached Bedford.

After claiming the wallet at police headquarters later, he sought out Mr. Head and offered him a $20 bill in token of his gratitude. But the taxi man declined. He then offered him $10, which again was refused.

"Well, I want you to take SOME THING," protested Mr. Pinette. "Will you at least accept $5, which certainly is nothing compared to what I might have lost?" So the taxi driver pocketed the $5.

Mrs. Pinette told the Press that her husband had been carrying more money than usual "because of the holiday weekend." But, she said, he won't lose any large sum again: "I'm putting that money right in the bank... and it was certainly nice of Mr. Head to return it."

The history of Arlington (first known as Merotomy, and then West Cambridge) goes back to the early days of the Massachusetts Bay Colony. The first grist mill in the Bay Colony was erected here; Arlington also had the first free public library in the state. The men of the town answered Paul Revere's call at daybreak, engaged in the heaviest fighting on that memorable day and made the first capture of British men and supplies in the revolution.

Reservoir Beach ... A Pleasure To Hundreds

We paid a visit to Arlington's only public bathing beach—Reservoir Beach in Arlington Heights—last week. We had heard complaints. Complaints about the condition of the water, the beach and the bathhouses. We went to the beach perfectly open-minded, ready to report the facts as we found them. And we had a photographer along to take pictures.

What we found, in brief, was a well-conducted bathing resort, capably staffed. Some 1,000 children and adults were sporting in the water, rolling on the beach or taking their ease on benches. They seemed to be having a good time, and there was every reason they should.

The condition of the beach was about what you'd expect with a crowd of 1,000. There were some papers littered about, but no more than would accumulate after a careful early-morning clean up. The bathhouses, we learned, are scrubbed with an antiseptic every morning; they were in good shape considering how many were using them.

What greatly impressed us was the earnestness and efficiency of the several lifeguards and swimming instructors. At one spot a group was receiving swimming instruction—free—that would cost them probably $2 an hour elsewhere; at the children's beach a capable Red Cross man was initiating smaller tots in the preliminary steps to swimming. One lifeguard made it a point not to stray far from a moored lifeboat—just in case it might suddenly be needed, as happens on an average of once a week.

We WILL say that the water bottom at Reservoir Beach is not free of debris as it might be. The attendants concede this point, and they would like nothing better than to drain the old reservoir at least once year and give it a thorough cleaning. But that is impossible, we were told, because the reservoir water is used by several commercial firms and its level cannot be lowered.

All in all, and allowing for conditions under which the beach must be operated, it is a healthful and relaxing pleasant place—and an enjoyment for many hundreds of people.

Arlington Sends $1,265 Check To Children's Hospital To Help Conquer Cancer In Youngsters

Forecasts that the recent 'Jimmy Day' cancer fund drive here would yield about $1,000, proved more than justified this week, when Chairman Harold A. Cahalin of the committee disclosed that total receipts came to $1,265.20.

A check for this amount has been forwarded to the Children's Hospital in Boston, the money adding to sums raised throughout the state, to fight the inception and spread of cancer in children.

Said Chairman Cahalin in a formal statement Wednesday:

"As Chairman and on behalf of the Arlington 'Jimmy Day' Committee, I take extreme pleasure in reporting that the sum of $1,265.20 has been realized to date, through the generous support and cooperation of organizations and citizens of Arlington during our recent 'Jimmy Day' activities for the benefit of the Children's Cancer Research Foundation.

"The Committee wishes to extend gratitude and sincere appreciation to all who in any way contributed to the success of this most worthwhile undertaking. A check in the aforesaid amount, which represents Arlington's contribution to the state-wide drive conducted to assist medical science financially in its struggle to find a cure for cancer among children, has already been forwarded to the Children's Hospital in Boston.

"We are justly proud of this great individual and group community contribution in the interest of the well-being of our youth and I consider it a real privilege to acknowledge both officially and personally the cordial reception given our appeal.

(Signed) Harold A. Cahalin,

General Chairman

Arlington "Jimmy Day" Committee

AYA League's Red Sox Tighten Hold On Top Spot By Defeating Browns; Rain Washes Out Games

Rain Monday night washed out all but one of the scheduled games in the Senior AYA League. The league-leading Red Sox, at the top of the list with five wins, defied the weather to battle the Browns to an 8 to 5 victory. This strengthened the Red Sox lead, giving them six wins to four for their nearest rivals, the Dodgers.

All of the games rained out Monday will be played next Monday. Two other postponed games are scheduled for this Friday, when the Dodgers clash with the Cardinals at Robbins Field and a Tigers vs. Browns battle is staged at Thorndike Field.

The postponed games to be played next Monday are: Pirates vs. Dodgers, Summer St.; Tigers vs. Yankees, Thorndike; Cardinals vs. Braves, Spy Pond; Red Sox vs. Browns, Florence Ave.

In the Junior AYA League the Cubs held top position this week with a one-game advantage over who were in second place.

Results last Thursday were: Senators 4, Cubs 3; Reds 7, Blue Jays 7; Athletics 3, White Sox 2; Indians 10, Giants 0.

Results Friday: Indians 8, Blue Jays 3; Athletics 4, Senators 3; Cubs 16, Giants 3; White Sox 5, Reds 3.

Last Rites For Boy, 8, Drowned In Pit

Drowned last Thursday while swimming with his brother at Jerry's Pit in North Cambridge, eight-year-old Francis Lombardi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lombardi of 116 Thorndike St., East Arlington, was placed at final rest Saturday following a mass of requiem at Immaculate Conception Church.

In attendance at the sorrowful last rites were, besides the grieving parents, the boy's older brother, Charles, 9, who himself was rescued from drowning by two other bathers; his sister Carol, 10. He leaves two other brothers, Thomas, 4, and Ronnie, 2.

The Arlington boy was drowned in about 10 feet of water some 20 feet from shore, just a day before a lifeguard went on duty at the swimming hole. Both Francis and Charles, it is said, became frightened and started struggling in the water. Two spectators went to their aid, but succeeded in saving only Charles.

Francis disappeared under the surface about 1 o'clock; his body was recovered by the Cambridge Fire Department at 4:50, while more than 150 spectators watched grappling operations.

Francis was a third grade pupil at the Hardy School.

Sidewalk Contract Awarded

Furthering the towns program of sidewalk construction, the Board of Survey this week awarded a contract for part of the construction program to Corcoran Bros. Construction Service Co. of Cambridge.

The contract, awarded on the basis of lowest bid, calls for $6,981.50 worth of work by this company, in scattered parts of town.

The remainder of the current sidewalk construction will be carried out by the public works department. This includes new sidewalks on both Franklin and Warren Sts.

Softball League Standings In Doubt At End Of First Half

With one game still to be played, final standings at the end of the first half are in doubt in the town softball league.

On the basis of present scores the Bombers lead, but the Elks—in second place—have yet to play the Marines, and a victory would tie the Elks with the Bombers. On the other hand, if the Elks lose there will be a four-way tie for second place.

Braves Scouts To Look Over Local Players

Arlington boys who think they might some day make a major baseball team will have a chance to show what they can do, before scouts for the Boston Braves.

The park department announced this week that the Braves will again this year conduct a two-day baseball school at Spy Pond, beginning next Wednesday, July 14.

Jeff Jones, the Braves' chief scout, assisted by Fred Maguire, B. C. ball coach, and Hal Good-nough, Wellesley High coach, will instruct players who turn out in the various technical phases of baseball.

In addition—and this, of course, is important—the three scouts will check closely for major league possibilities.

Boys from 15 to 20 are eligible for the free instruction. They should preferably be in uniform, though a glove is all they actually need.

Two or more players from the school will be chosen to play for the Boston All Stars against the N. E. All Stars at Braves Field July 24, under the floodlights. Last year four boys from Arlington participated in this game.

Uniforms of white sateen and blue jackets will be presented to boys chosen to play for Boston.

2 Women In Car Crashes Shaken Up

Two women were shaken and reportedly injured in auto accidents here Saturday.

Mrs. Shirley Smith of 42 Ronald Rd. was treated by a physician for shock and bruises after a car driven by Truman Robbins of the same address was struck by a truck while stopped for a red light at Mass. Ave. and Mystic St. The truck, owned by the town, was operated by John P. Kelly of 93 Mystic St.

Mrs. Rose Tadde of 29a Lafayette St. complained of injury to her back after a car driven by her husband, Donato Taddeo, was struck by a trolley car while the auto was turning into Mass. Ave. from Lafayette St.

Two cars suffered bent mudguards in a collision Sunday at 12:45 a.m. at the entrance to the Duchess, on Summer St. One of the cars, operated by Raymond C. Cooley of 4 Caper St., Medford, was turning into the refreshment with a machine driven by George C. Todd Jr. of 277 Washington St.

All-Stars To Clash With Somerville

The Arlington All Stars have booked a game with the Somerville Red Sox, it was announced this week.

The tilt, which is expected to attract a large attendance, will take place at Spy Pond on Tuesday, July 20, at 6:15.

The Somerville club has former college and Park League players in its lineup, and is expected to offer formidable opposition.

The All Stars, however have steller material of their own, including Pat Egan and Fernie Flamon of the Bruins, Eddie Barry of the Olympics; Art Johnson, former Braves Pitcher; an local boys such as Joe Cunnane, Holy Cross; Ike Bevins, B. U.; George Minot, Tufts; Joe Aulenback, John Col-liton, Art Hatton, Dick Raia, Bob Carmody and Henry Lancelotter.

The All Stars recently defeated the Arlington DAV team 5-1, in a cancer fund benefit game that netted $80.

If the July 20th game is well patronized, the All Stars plan to play Tuesday evenings throughout August, bringing in good teams and giving the fans really good games.

40 Librarians On Visit Here

Some 40 librarians from as many Massachusetts cities and towns inspected the Robbins Memorial Public Library here last Thursday afternoon, as part of the summer institute given jointly by the Mass. Division of Public Libraries and Simmons College.

The visiting librarians were interested particularly in the extension erected on the building here in 1931, and which is conceded by architects to be a fine example of blending the old style of architecture with a building designed for modern library methods.

Richard J. Cavicke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Cavicke of 155 Jason Street, has entered New Hampton, N. H.

Ice Cream Stand Is Broken Into, Looted

Boys who broke into a refreshment stand at 246 Mystic Ave., sometime Sunday, walked away with a godly supply of five-cent containers of ice cream.

John S. Crosby of 246 Mystic St., who operates the stand, doesn't know exactly how much was stolen, but it was enough to satisfy the appetites of a half dozen youngsters.

The stand, which is not operated on Sundays, was entered by breaking a pane of glass in the front door.

Hits Girl On Bike

A Stoneham motorist reported to police Saturday that, the previous day, his car had run into a girl cyclist at Warren and River Sts.

He didn't know the girl's name, nor whether she had been injured.

I WONDER if Leap Year had anything to do with Atty. Lawrence Corcoran's decision to become a benedict?

Fusco Quits As Physical Director

George F. Fusco of 71 Amsden St., member of the high school faculty, verified this week a report that he has submitted his resignation as supervisor of physical activities at the high school.

He will, he said, continue as a history teacher. His resignation as physical director, received too late for action at the school committee's last meeting, will come before its first meeting in September.

Mr. Fusco said he preferred not to comment on reasons for his resignation, and that any statement on that score should more properly come from the school principal or the school board.

Car Looted

A car owned by Wilfred Rogers of 71 Freeman St., left unlocked in a parking space at the Texaco Gas Station at 264 Mass. Ave., Saturday night, was found minus a $7 automatic cigarette lighter the next morning.

Vandalism At Boys' Club

Boys who apparently don't appreciate what the Boy's Club does for the town's youngsters smashed 12 panes of glass in the clubhouse sometime Saturday night.

All 12 panes were on the Spy Pond side of the clubhouse.

I WONDER if Mr. Westcott still misses the fram he used to own in Littleton?

Two young men with a peculiar sense of humor deliberately set fire to one of the benches at the Linwood St. playground Sunday night, according to police.

Witnesses told of seeing the youths start the fire, and then dart off in a car. This was shortly after 10 o'clock.

An alarm brought the fire department to the scene, and the blaze was quickly extinguished—but with considerable damage to the bench.

Woman Is $40 Poorer

Someone is $40 richer—at the expense of a Lexington woman.

Miss Helen Bonton of 62 Chase Ave., Lexington, reported to police Saturday afternoon that she lost a packet of bills on Mass. Ave., near Park Ave.

The bills—one $20, two $10 bills and four $5 bills—were bound together with a clip, she said.

Falling Bricks Miss Child, 4, As Lighting Hits Chimney On Home

Defer Appointments To Housing Authority See Action Monday

Because the Fourth of July weekend made it difficult for the selectmen to contact some of the individuals under consideration for appointment to the new veteran's Housing Authority, the selectmen at their meeting Tuesday were unable to proceed with selection of the four men they are to appoint.

It was indicated, however, that the four local appointees would in all likelihood be announced when the board meets next Monday. The fifth member of the local Authority, which is to undertake the construction of veterans' homes with state funds, will be picked by the state Housing Board.

Meanwhile, the board of selectmen has made sure that the town will not lose its portion of the state funds by notifying the Housing Board that it is prepared to go ahead, and requesting that Arlington's proportion of the money be held in reserve.

The Housing Authority, when it organizes, will have an initial town appropriation of $2,500 with which to conduct a survey of sites and building types before definitely committing the town to the erection of low-rent homes.

Honest Man Returns Wallet And $65 Cash

A West Somerville foundry worker found an Arlington man's wallet containing $65 cash, near the post office here Tuesday, and promptly restored it to its owner.

Paul Muller of 19 Orchard Terrace was driving away from a parking space near the post office when his wallet fell to the street, under the running board. He didn't notice the loss till later.

Meanwhile, John T. Purcell of 961 Broadway, West Somerville, came along and picked up the wallet. He found Mr. Muller's name among the personal effects, and immediately drove to the Muller home.

been abandoned on Chesnut St. came across the car, the number which had been obtained. It had the machine was quickly identified as one previously reported stolen in Boston. It belonged to Luis A. Munnulle of 57 Westland Ave. Ext. and had been stolen some time between 9:15 a. m., and 4:15 p. m.

Police Chief Archie Bullock believed that the holdup man may have been accompanied by an accomplice in a second stolen car in which they made their escape. "They frequently operate that way," he commented.

The last holdup in Arlington, about a year ago, took place in front of the Menotomy Bank when an out-of-town man help up a pedestrian. The culprit was caught almost immediately afterward.

Mrs. Lefebvre, the victim of Friday's holdup, was so shaken that she had to visit her family physician.

"I wouldn't want to go through an experience like that again," she told the Press.

In a description flashed to all surrounding towns, the holdup man was described as between 25 and 30 years old, five foot four, 150 pounds, and wearing a light panama-style hat, white shirt, medium blue pants, brown leather gloves and sun glasses.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Proulx and four of their children who were at home at the time received quite a fright Tuesday afternoon when a bolt of lightning struck the chimney of their home at 52 Huntington Rd.

Most of the family were gathered about the table in the dining room, preparing to have dinner, but four-year-old Janet was outside on the porch. When the bolt struck the chimney, she ran inside screaming in fright.

Other bricks fell into the attic, and a few in a fireplace, while the house filled with smoke.

A phone call to fire headquarters quickly brought firemen to the spot. Close examination showed that, while the chimney was considerably damaged, no fire had started.

The bolt struck about 5:50 p. m.

Mr. Muller thanked him and gratefully pressed a $10 reward on him.

"An honest man like that is entitled to be given credit," Mr. Muller told the Press. "I understand that he found wallets before and returned them. I don't know how many children he has, but I know he has a sick wife.

In accordance with the provisions of the Economic Cooperation Act of 1948, the Administrator, insofar as practicable and under rules and regulations prescribed by him to pay ocean freight charges on certain relief parcels, and where practicable, to make agreements with participating countries to absorb terminal charges on such parcels.

Acing Postmaster Francis A. Crowley advises that, effective this week and until further notice, the present postage rates on such relief parcels sent by surface means are reduced by 4 cents per pound only for the following countries: Austria, Belgium, China, France, Great Britain and Northern Ireland, Greece, Italy, Luxembourg, Netherlands, and the zones of Germany and Trieste under occupation by the United States, Great Britain, or France.

"Relief parcel" is one originating in the U. S. and consigned by an individual sender to an individual addressee for the personal use of himself or his immediate family. Such parcels are limited to non-perishable food, clothing, and clothes-making materials, shoe and shoe-making materials, mailable medical and health supplies and household supplies and utensils if permitted under existing regulations to the particular country.

The combined total domestic retail value of all soap, butter and other edible fats and oils included in each relief parcel must not exceed $5.00; and the combined total domestic retail value of all streptomycin, quinine sulfate and quinine hydrochloride included in each relief parcel must not exceed $5.00.

These relief parcels may be registered or insured to those countries where such service is available.

ary, was one of the young fellows who helped Dominick break in on the job. Another was "Bob" Daly, who now works for the town's tree department.

Now in his late 30's, Dominick is a married man and father of two children, Vincent, 4, and Nancy, 6. The family lives on Rawson Rd. in the same house where Dominick has lived since he moved here from South Boston in 1925.

"Oh sure, Arlington has changed," he reminisces, "Lots of the once familiar faces have gone; lots more new ones coming in all the time."

Making new friends has never been a difficult task for Dominick. Well known by all around the center, his pleasant greeting is always welcomed by friends who drop in to enjoy a cooling drink and perhaps spend a moment or two talking with their favorite clerk.

There is a trace of sadness in his voice when he speaks of these early years, and of Mr. Pierson's death in 1939. Dominick has great respect for the memory of this man who gave him his first real chance.

"It's all in liking your job and liking people," he commented,

With A Firm Resolve And Some Hard Work, Harry Permuter Becomes Such An Excellent Orator N.E. Toastmasters Hail Him As Best

Two months ago Harry Permuter of 803 Gray St. had his doubts about his ability as a public speaker. When he got up to address a meeting he suffered stage fright, his voice shook, and he had trouble "thinking on his feet."

That's all changed now, for Mr. Permuter—a changed man almost overnight—last week was acclaimed as one of the best public speakers hereabouts.

It happened at the New England Toastmasters' convention held in Cambridge. The Arlington man had been chosen as one of the representatives of the Boston Toastmasters' Club—an organization he joined recently to perfect himself as an orator.

As a representative of the Boston Club, he spoke in a contest against a group of the best public speakers in New England—toastmasters, all of them.

And the judges gave Mr. Permuter first prize! Surprised as much as he was pleased, the winner later commented:

"It must have been partly, at least, the subject of my discourse that helped me win. I gave an eyewitness account of the rebuffal of one of our war dead, using fictitious names and describing the scene as I saw it. I ended up with an appeal to refrain from talk of another war as a means of bringing about more such burials."

But according to reports from the convention itself, it was more than Mr. Permuter's subject which won him top honors; his oratory was assured, his presence confident, his words well chosen and his presentation—in a word—the work of an accomplished speaker.

In private life, Mr. Permuter is vice president of the Mallon Mattress Co. in Boston. He is president of the Arlington Jewish Community Center, having recently been reelected—which is one reason in particular, that he set out to perfect himself as a public speaker.

it at 4 p.m. he found a side window had been smashed, and the car's cushions turned upside down. He could find nothing missing, however.

He parked his car at 11 a.m., he said, and when he returned to

Building Construction Ahead Of Last Year; 63 Permits In June

Considerably more construction work is going on in Arlington this year than in 1947, it is disclosed by Building Inspector Paul Mossman.

During June, for instance, a total of 63 permits were issued—representing expenditures of $190,590. This was some $41,000 more than in June of 1947, though in that month the number of permits totalled 64.

The month of May was even better than June of this year. During May, 59 permits were granted representing total costs of $232,373. During the past week, the building inspector has issued permits for the construction of two one-family residences. These were:

Michael Graziano one-family dwelling at 10 Brand St., estimated cost, $6000; Benjamin J. Gott, one-family dwelling at 175 Renfrew St. at a cost of $7000.

A permit has also been issued to Mark Veeo for the construction of an addition for a bath and heater room at 80 Bow St., at a cost of $1500.

Other permits: J. V. Abretti and Son, two-car garage at 62 Walnut St., cost $700; Robert E. Besette, single garage at 7 Ivy Circle, cost $600; Coca Cola Bottling Co., sign at 112 Mass. Ave., cost $75; J. T. Couture, piazza roof wat 8 Waldo Rd., cost $200.

First National Construction Co.; re-roof dwellings, 91 Lake St., cost $480, and 33 Phillips St.; cost $295; W. E. Besette, re-roof dwelling at 214 Summer St.; cost $100; Bond Modernizing Co., re-roof dwelling at 53 Wyman St., cost, $575.

Harry Pratt, extend one stall of garage at 32 Sawin St., cost, $50; Paul Coughlin, garage at 65 Winter St., cost, $100.

Loaded Artillery Shell Dug Up In Back Yard

An artillery shell, loaded with potential death, was dug up in a back yard here Monday.

It was found by Paul Coughlin of 66 Winter St., while digging a garage foundation in his yard.

Coughlin wisely notified the police, and the projectile was removed to police headquarters and subsequently disposed of by Sgt. William A. Riley, the department's explosive expert.

Coughlin, who found the explosive in dirt thrown up from the excavation has no idea how it got into his yard. He and his family have occupied the house about a year, and the projectile presumably was buried by a former tenant.

The shell was more than a foot long.

I Wonder?
I WONDER if it felt like 'old times' to former moderator William B. Barry, when he stepped in as acting moderator at the special town meeting?

I WONDER if Owen McGurl of 18 Grove St. Pl., who was bitten by a dog last week, agrees with Dog Officer Femia that it would be a good idea to restrain all dogs during July and August?

I WONDER if Police Lieut. Sullivan was surprised last week to read the write-up we carried about his brother-in-law, Leo A. Kelley?

I WONDER how that Eastern Mass. bus happened to hit the traffic light in front of old town hall, Friday afternoon?

I WONDER if the police station wasn't the quietest place in town July Fourth morning, with the phone ringing only three times from 8 to 10:30 a. m.?

I WONDER if citizens wouldn't get more enjoyment out of the beautiful little park near the town hall if they were allowed to sit on the shaded grass, instead of being limited to the use of six cold benches?

I WONDER if youths don't show a rather twisted sense of humor when they go to such extremes for "fun" as to set a park bench afire?

I WONDER if it wasn't a thoughtful friend, after the Fourth who refrained from slapping acquaintances on the back?

I WONDER who it is who's seriously thinking of moving out to Dixbury for the summer?

I WONDER how many persons in Arlington have had occasion to use the Western Union's "wake-up" service, which—for a small charge—brings a phone call at any specified hour of the morning, and a cheery feminine voice saying: "Time to wake up... Don't go back to sleep?"

I WONDER if the firemen will accept that challenge for a return ball game with the policemen?

I WONDER who'll be picked as "Miss Arlington" at the AMVETS' town hall dance a week from tomorrow, and if YOU'VE bought a dance ticket to help buy that 'iron lung' for the town?

I WONDER if Joseph C. Mahoney's selection as K. C. district deputy isn't a well-earned recognition of good work done?

I WONDER if Mrs. William T. O'Leary feels it was worth the discomfort of getting her hand caught in a tin can, after seeing her name on the front page?

I WONDER who was the Arlington store owner who celebrated the court ruling unsetting Commissioner Henry Long's mandatory ruling on cigarette prices, by selling cigs at 19 cents a pack?

I WONDER if the rats and other varmints who've been waxing fat on grain at the Peirce and Winn property, are looking forward to new quarters in nearby cellars when the property is razed—or if the wreckers will, as they should, disappoint them with a taste of poison?

I WONDER who said: 'The Press is the only paper Arlington ever

Bus Depot Changed Again; Shelter For Passengers Planned

A shelter for bus passengers may, within the next few months, be erected in Arlington Center, it appeared this week coincident with announcement that the bus stop formerly located in front of Koford's is again being changed.

A few weeks ago, buses that formerly had stopped at Koford's were given a new stopping place had that championed the ordinary man?

I WONDER where Arlington bachelors would eat if a few more lunchrooms decided to close on holidays?

I WONDER how that Pleasant St. householder likes the new sidewalk built in front of his home, after the recent installation of parking meters?

I WONDER why, with all the white paint that's being spread around for parking spaces, a little couldn't be used for pedestrian lanes at busy crossings?

I WONDER if Rev. John Nicol Mark wasn't quite pleased to receive a life membership in Arlington's Legion Post just before leaving on a three months' trip to Scotland?

I WONDER if those who occasionally miss their copies of the Press know that it's on sale in most drug stores and variety stores along Mass. Ave.?

I WONDER if it isn't a good sign that the Press is in such demand?

I WONDER if Alvin Earle and Bob McIntosh of the Heights are planning to attend military camp again during their summer vacation?

I WONDER if Warren Ryan's aplomb and sang froid, as demonstrated at St. Agnes' carnival, wouldn't make him a good carnival man?

I WONDER who the girl is who runs nightly at the Spy Pond Track and who her coach, a former track star of Arlington, is?

I WONDER how many phone company employees know the name of the president of their company?

I WONDER if Eddie Meserve likes his new home on the shores of Mystic Lakes as well as he liked the Heights section?

I WONDER if Dan Mahoney of Mary St. is planning any amateur theatricals at North Conway, N.H. this summer?

I WONDER how many have noticed the excellent job of road surfacing and patching being done by the town's public works dept. along Mass. Ave.?

I WONDER how long it will take to get the first veterans' housing project under way?

I WONDER how many of us have forgotten to pay our town tax bills?

directly in front of the old town Lucy Callahan, Miss Dorothy Fogarty and Mrs. Alfred C. Schultz. hall. Now, on a trial basis for 30 days, the bus stop is to be moved still further eastward.

The new bus stop is to be in space now occupied by a row of taxis, directly in front of the grass plot owned by the town of Arlington. The taxi stand will be moved to the present bus stop, in front of the old town hall.

The selectmen approved the change this week, at the request of Police Chief Archie Bullock.

Chief Bullock subsequently told the Press: "The present bus stop has worked out well, but I believe the newest change will work out still better. In any event, we're going to try it for 30 days."

He admitted that the possibility of a bus shelter on the grass plot already has been discussed, adding that this question probably would be seriously taken up once it has been demonstrated that the newest stopping place for buses works out well.
